Amy Niederholtmeyer is a paralegal in Reinhart's of Trusts and Estates Practice and a member of the Trust Services Team, where she works collaboratively to achieve clients' goals while maintaining open and clear communication between all parties. Amy believes that organization and careful accounting take on added importance when handling someone's legacy, and this informs her dedication to her work.

Before joining Reinhart, Amy worked at the ACLU, an organization she still volunteers for. She spends most of her free time being a mom.
