Autumn Ruleau is a dedicated lawyer in the Health Care Law Practice at Reinhart, where she counsels clients on projects encompassing all aspects of health care law, including licensing, regulatory and compliance issues.

Autumn serves as both a partner and an advocate for clients, helping them navigate the ever-changing complex regulatory and compliance landscape. She values hard work and being a proactive listener and works diligently to understand every client's needs so she can provide a clear roadmap to help them achieve their goals.

Committed to excellence, she continuously seeks out new knowledge and stays abreast of the latest developments in health care law.

Autumn was previously a Summer Associate at Reinhart. During law school, Autumn served as a judicial intern for Justice Jill Karofsky at the Wisconsin Supreme Court, a law clerk for Midwest Environmental Advocates, and an extern for the Wisconsin Department of Justice - Civil Litigation Unit. Autumn was a member of the Pro Bono Society and a Note and Comment Editor at the Wisconsin Law Review.

In her free time, Autumn enjoys hiking, gardening and traveling.
