

Data Privacy and Cybersecurity

In today's regulatory environment, every organization needs a sound strategy for protecting sensitive data and addressing breaches if they occur.

Reinhart's Data Privacy and Cybersecurity Team provides clients sophisticated but practical advice on policies and procedures for the creation, transmission, securing and discarding of protected or regulated information in virtually every industry. We work with a wide range of businesses with a range of unique concerns, including consumer product companies, health care providers, financial institutions and technology startups.

We protect your interests by drafting contracts that mitigate risk and advising on privacy laws governing, securing, using and transferring personal data. In the event of a data breach, our team works quickly to assist clients in minimizing damages, effectively leveraging the attorney-client privilege. We assist in investigations and are experienced in working with outside vendors such as forensic analysts.

The myriad of state and federal laws that govern data privacy and security are complex and constantly evolving. Our team stays apprised of these changes to ensure you have timely and accurate information to make informed decisions.

Our client contacts encompass a wide range of representatives from different organizations, including general counsel, chief privacy officers, chief information officers, directors of information security and regulatory or compliance officers. They value our ability to distill complex legal requirements and offer succinct, actionable counsel that protects their business.

Our Data Privacy and Cybersecurity Team is comprised of specialized attorneys from various practice areas, including Corporate Law, Health Care, Banking and Finance, Labor and Employment, Litigation and Intellectual Property. This diverse group can efficiently address all aspects of your business that may be affected by data privacy and cybersecurity issues.
