Dena Bauer is a paralegal in Reinhart's Litigation Practice, where she assists with product liability matters and coordinates litigation cases involving severe injuries. With more than two decades of experience, she provides support with all aspects of civil litigation, from the claims process to trials and appeals. She also manages large-scale document databases and productions, preparing cases for trial in both state and federal courts.

From overseeing logistics to coordinating witnesses and compiling exhibits, Dena's extensive trial experience ensures clients receive cost-efficient service at every step. Her unique perspective on workplace conditions often leads her to identify essential details, and she finds satisfaction in unraveling complex issues to help clients defend or prove their cases.

In her free time, she enjoys playing volleyball, and rooting for the Milwaukee Brewers and Green Bay Packers.
