Jack Brooks is an attorney in Reinhart's Corporate Law Practice, where he performs due diligence and compliance research for consumer finance and private equity clients. His tailored approach to clients' business objectives enables him to consistently provide strategic and well-informed counsel while helping develop constructive solutions to legal challenges.

Before joining the firm, Jack clerked at the Milwaukee County Circuit Court for the Hon. Kevin Martens and interned at the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Wisconsin. He was also a student associate at the University of Wisconsin Law School's Family Court Clinic and associate programs editor and senior articles editor for Wisconsin International Law Journal.

Outside of work, Jack enjoys hiking and cheering on the Washington Huskies.
