As a shareholder in Reinhart's Real Estate Practice, John Murphy believes in taking ownership of his client's problems and relentlessly pursuing solutions. From big deals to small questions, he's accessible and responsive.

John has extensive transactional experience in acquisitions, dispositions, leasing, real estate finance and sale/leasebacks. He helps negotiate and draft complex documentation, supervises due diligence, works through easement and property tax issues in real estate transactions and offers real estate opinions. His clients span the country and include lenders, borrowers, developers, buyers, sellers, tenants, landlords and joint ventures. He enjoys developing long-term relationships with his clients and helping their businesses flourish.

John serves as President of the American College of Mortgage Attorneys and formerly taught advanced contract drafting as an adjunct professor of law at Marquette University Law School.

Away from the office, John enjoys learning new languages, snow skiing, hiking and spending time with his wife, four children and two very large dogs.
