MILWAUKEE – Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c. (Reinhart) announces its implementation of the latest legal research and workflow platform from Thomson Reuters, Westlaw Precision and Practical Law Dynamic Tool Set, an investment that further enhances the firm's ability to efficiently deliver outstanding results for clients.

This partnership positions Reinhart among the first Top 200 law firms to utilize the new platform. The Westlaw Precision and Practical Law Dynamic Tool Set equips the firm and its attorneys with one of the most powerful and comprehensive legal research and workflow solutions currently available.

"We are continuously seeking ways to leverage innovation and increase the value we bring to our clients," said CEO Al Orr. "Our investment in this cutting-edge technology will better position our clients for success."

Westlaw Precision is a revolutionary new legal research platform that utilizes artificial intelligence to ensure attorneys always have access to the most relevant and accurate information. The comprehensiveness and intuitiveness are what sets this technology apart, drawing on industry-leading, trusted content from across statutes, cases and regulations to quickly resolve queries that used to take hours, ultimately helping our attorneys effectively address clients' needs in a streamlined process.

"With the move to Westlaw Precision and the Practical Law Dynamic Tool Set, Reinhart has raised the bar on the research product that we can provide to our clients," said Manager of Information Resources Carol Schmitt. "The new platform brings enhanced technology and content that enables our firm to get the right information to our clients effectively and efficiently."
