

Reinhart Strengthens Practices by Adding Five New Attorneys

Milwaukee – Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c. (Reinhart) is pleased to announce the addition of five new associates who have joined the Milwaukee office. Olivia Schwartz joins the Litigation Practice, Lindsay Dodovich joins the Corporate Law Practice, Emily Capodarco joins the Trusts and Estates Practice, Jack Howard joins the Health Care Practice and Jeremy Andereck joins the Real Estate Practice. All were previously summer associates with the firm.

“Reinhart is thrilled to welcome five talented new attorneys to the firm,” says Reinhart CEO, Albert Orr. “Each brings with them a distinct, diverse perspective that will greatly enhance the work we do for our clients. We look forward to the many positive contributions they will make to the practice areas they have joined.”

Olivia Brooks is an attorney in Reinhart’s Litigation Practice. At the University of Wisconsin Law School, she was an active participant on the Moot Court Board, was involved in the Jewish Law Students Association and worked as a project assistant for Professors Renagh O’Leary and Franciska Coleman. Schwartz also served as a clinical student at the Frank J. Remington Center’s LAIP clinic, where she worked with incarcerated persons on various kinds of legal claims, and was member of the Pro Bono Society and an Articles Editor of the Wisconsin International Law Journal.

Lindsay T. Dodovich is an attorney in Reinhart’s Corporate Law Practice, where she is part of the firm’s Mergers and Acquisitions Practice. While at Marquette University Law School, Dodovich served as a legal intern at Children’s Hospital of Wisconsin and also in Marquette University’s Office of the General Counsel, where she drafted and revised documents, reviewed contracts and researched various legal subject matters. She also volunteered at the Domestic Violence Injunction Hearings Project and the Marquette Volunteer Legal Clinic, and was Managing Editor of the Marquette Law Review.

Emily H. Capodarco is an attorney in Reinhart’s Trusts and Estates Practice where she helps clients with estate planning designed to meet their personal, familial and financial goals.
