Ryan Stippich is a shareholder in Reinhart's Litigation Practice and co-chair of the White Collar Litigation and Investigations Team. Highly skilled in these complex areas of the law, Ryan blends sophisticated financial concepts, technical knowledge and trial experience to successfully advocate for his clients in high-stakes cases.

He represents investment advisors, banks and financial institutions, public companies, officers, directors, actuaries, accountants, investment advisers and other professionals, provides regulatory compliance advice, and defends against False Claims Acts cases. He often counsels board committees of independent directors in conducting internal investigations, disputes with shareholders or in litigation arising out of transactions, such as mergers or acquisitions.

Ryan regularly collaborates with Reinhart's Institutional Investor Services Team to provide independent litigation review services to public pension funds and other institutional investors. He is a member of the National Association of Public Pension Attorneys and serves on NAPPA's Securities Litigation Committee.

Ryan is responsive, detail-oriented and passionate about pursuing the specific nuances that make a significant difference to clients facing challenges from government entities. He is a tenacious, creative litigator with significant trial experience. Ryan served as a special prosecutor for the Milwaukee County District Attorney's Office, where he acted as lead counsel in eight trials, including felony jury trials. Ryan has also worked in the Criminal Appeals Unit of the Wisconsin Department of Justice. He has also argued cases in Seventh Circuit and Ninth Circuit Courts of Appeals, Delaware Chancery Court (the premier business court in the Country), and is admitted in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Outside of the offices he enjoys spending time with family, watching and playing sports, playing music, and is active in his church.
